

SOVIET SHAKE-UP MYSTERY

Wide Speculation On Cause Of Sudden Ousting Of Molotov

Russian Cabinet Shake-up May Be Of Great Import

Observers Feel It Is Too Early To Judge Effect On World Peace Effort

MOLOTOV STATUS BEING DEBATED

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager I. N. S.)

PARIS, March 5.—Top level Western diplomatic observers predicted today that the Soviet cabinet shakeup may prove to be of trans-cending importance to the destiny of the world.

These observers felt, however, it is too soon to determine whether the results will be good or bad for future world peace.

Western statesmen and diplomats in Paris, like the people of Europe, tried to fathom the real meaning of the Kremlin's mysterious move in relieving Vyacheslav M. Molotov of his duties as foreign minister.

No Promotion For Molotov

The consensus of leading American, British and French diplomats who were available for comment was that the move definitely does not appear to herald a promotion for Molotov.

These diplomats do not believe that Molotov is being moved up to take Premier Stalin's job.

On the contrary, they think Molotov was "fired" because of his long record of failures.

These sources pointed to his failures to wreck the Marshall plan, to drive the western powers out of Berlin through the blockade, to block development of the West's defensive alliance, and to prevent Norway and Denmark from joining the Atlantic pact.

Western diplomatic observers expressed the belief that Molotov's removal does not necessarily mean that Stalin has decided to come to terms with the West.

Confidence Lacking

They said in their opinion it merely means that Stalin and his group within the Politburo have lost confidence in Molotov as foreign minister.

They said that if Molotov were being promoted, a Soviet communique would have contained some glowing reference to him or expressed appreciation for his past work.

It was pointed out Molotov never

The arrests took place in New York.

The woman, 27-year-old Judith Coplon of Brooklyn, N. Y., was held under $20,000 bond and remanded with the U. N. secretary, Valentín A. Gubitchev, 32, to the custody of federal marshals.

Attorney General Clark said the secret material recovered when

First Report Given In Red Cross Drive

Campaign Is Just Getting Under Way—Next Report Scheduled March 11

Encouraging were the first reports given on the 1949 Red Cross campaign. At a report meeting held March 4, just four days after the solicitation began, division leaders reported $2,690.50, or approximately 10% of the $27,560 quota.

This report is incomplete, as the residential division is just beginning its solicitation, and no report was made by the Ellwood City campaign.

The following figures were made available:

- Industrial division—$1,679.00.
- Professional division—$249.00.
- Business division—$388.00.
- County division—$248.00.
- Special groups—$240.00.
- Residential division—$7.00.
- Government—$12.50.

Campaign Chairman Harry W. Helmick stated that he felt that the next report meeting which will be held March 11 will see several of the divisions over the top, and further stated that he felt that the entire organization was now swinging into high gear, and that he hopes to report the completed solicitation by March 25.

Sarnoff Declares Business Should Be Good This Year

NEW YORK, March 5.—(INS)—David Sarnoff, chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation of America, warned U. S. business leaders today against a "psychological recession."

Sarnoff, returning aboard the liner America from a six week business trip to Britain and France, discounted the possibility of a major business recession in the U. S. He said:

"We should have a fairly good year in 1949. I do not see any reason for any major recession here. We must, however, avoid a psychological recession."

Four F-80 Jet Planes Make Return Flight

The last plane took off at 9:35 a. m. (EST) bound for the Miami international airport.

Twenty Year Atlantic Pact Is Considered

Report North Atlantic Alliance Powers Virtually Agreed On 20-Year Pact

EUROPEANS FAVOR EXTENDED PERIOD

By JOHN BOOTH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The North Atlantic Alliance Powers were reported virtually agreed today on setting up the proposed mutual defense pact for a 20-year period.

Up to now, discussion has centered on a lifetime of from 16 to 20 years, but sentiment for the longer period is said to be growing.

Europeans favor it on the theory that the longer the United States is committed to maintain an interest in their affairs the greater will be the feeling of security abroad.

The final decision, however, is said to hinge on the reaction of the senate foreign relations committee, which will be consulted again before the final draft of the proposed treaty is completed.

The life of the pact is designed to follow precedent. They usually cover five, ten or twenty years with an automatic renewal clause frequently included.

In the present case, however, the domestic political situation is a matter of top consideration.

The possibility that future economic or domestic political developments might influence the United States attitude on world affairs is uppermost in the thoughts of those drafting the treaty. They are mindful of the isolationist sentiment which developed after World War I.

Negotiations are proceeding on the theory that the pact will come into force in 1949 through ratification by all the participants or a substantial majority of them.

World Day Of Prayer Service Draws Throng

Impressive was the World Day of Prayer service conducted Friday afternoon in the First Christian church under auspices of the United Council of Church Women of this city. Members of churches of all denominations, including men, women and children, were in attendance.

Thought-provoking was the talk given by Rev. James A. Gaiser of First Methodist church, who told of conditions in Europe, which he visited last summer. The speaker stated that some of the facts he had to give are not pleasant and he wished he did not have to tell them. Visiting Europe has made him humble, and he has prayed as he never prayed before.

Congregations in churches there are made up mostly of women, as the men have been killed or are in prison camps. In a congregation of 900 there was not a family but had lost at least one in World War II. Rev. Gaiser closed his talk with prayer.

Expect Verdicts And Presumably Sentences On Next Tuesday Afternoon

(BULLETIN)

SOFIA, March 5.—(INS)—The trial of 15 Bulgarian Protestant pastors accused of treason, espionage and black-marketing ended suddenly today with a final appeal for clemency by their defense attorneys.

All renewed their pleas of guilty to one or more of the many charges lodged against them, and all pleaded for mercy.

The Sofia high tribunal will hand down verdicts, and presumably sentences, next Tuesday afternoon.

Mounting Food Crisis In Poland

WARSAW, March 5.—(INS)—The Polish government announced emergency measures today to stem a mounting food crisis that has threatened workers' rations in all large towns.

Among the steps taken in an attempt to alleviate the situation was a decision to import large quantities of beef from Romania and Hungary.

U. N. Members Are Amazed At Red Shift

Some Suggestion That Molotov May Be Successor To Premier Stalin

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 5.—The names of Molotov and Vishinsky—long synonymous with Soviet obstructionism at the United Nations—overshadowed all other international developments today at the world body's headquarters.

The U. N.'s immediate reaction to the replacement of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov by his deputy, Andrei Vishinsky, was one of amazement. Until such time as further details of the shake-up are available most delegates are adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Leading members of the iron curtain countries listened silently late yesterday to the accounts given them by U. N. correspondents, their faces showing incredulity, but they said nothing and went home.

Western delegates crowded about the correspondents and sought more information.

White House Is Silent On Views On Red Shake-up

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Official White House today adopted a Missouri "show-me" attitude on the possibility that the Russian high command might end the cold war.

President Truman withheld comment on the sensational Moscow announcement that Andrei Vishinsky had replaced V. M. Molotov as Soviet foreign minister.

White House Secretary William Hassett told reporters that the Russian foreign office switch was "not even mentioned" at Mr. Truman's morning meeting with his top aides.

High American officials, like most top diplomats in other western countries, appeared content to let the future prove whether Vishinsky's promotion means that relations between Russia and the democracies will improve or worsen.

Kane Man Given Two-Year Sentence

Acquitted On Murder Charge But Pleads Guilty To Involuntary Manslaughter

SMETHPORT, Pa., March 5.—(INS)—Alvin Smiley, 26-year-old Kane man who previously was acquitted of a charge of murdering his wife, today began a two-year sentence for involuntary manslaughter.

Smiley entered a plea of guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old wife, Thelma, before Judge Charles G. Hubbard yesterday in Smethport.

In addition to confinement in Allegheny county workhouse, Smiley was ordered to pay the cost of prosecution and his hunting license was revoked for five years.

Last Jan. 25, a mixed jury acquitted Smiley of murder in connection with the death of his pregnant wife last July. He was re-arrested and held for trial on the manslaughter charge.

British Believe Molotov In Stalin Advisor Role

By JAMES E. BROWN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 5.—Authoritative British sources said today that Premier Stalin probably is tightening his grip on Soviet foreign affairs with Vyacheslav M. Molotov as his close advisor.

The sources said they believed the "release" of Molotov—Russia's No. two man—from his duties as foreign minister and his replacement by Andrei Vishinsky does not mean any immediate change in Soviet foreign policy.

Their reaction to Russia's announcement of the most sensational postwar cabinet shakeup followed the line that Molotov was not fired by Stalin.

The sources said the belief has crystallized that Molotov is returning to the job he has held unofficially for some time as foreign affairs advisor to the generalissimo as well as the powerful politburo.

Guess At Significance

This view strengthened in London while most of the world engaged in a guessing game as to the exact significance of the foreign ministry switch.

The sources took this general view of the situation, subject to reports from the British embassy in Moscow and still unforeseen developments.

Molotov will continue as Stalin's right hand man and foreign affairs advisor at a time when the cold war has reached a delicate stage. He will assist in guiding the nation on all matters pertaining to foreign policy.

Death Toll Of Firemen Seven At Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5.—(INS)—The toll mounted today to seven firemen dead and 15 injured in a million-dollar fire that swept two five-and-ten-cent stores in downtown Charleston.

The blaze, described as the worst in the city's history, started early yesterday morning in the basement of the three-story Woolworth building and spread to the adjoining Kresge store.

Police said flames raged out of control for eight hours and that all available equipment was mobilized to subdue the stubborn fire.

Reported in a critical condition were Capt. Charles Clendenin, 39, overcome by smoke, and Carl Wilkin, 25, burned on the face, chest and arms.

Rescuers wept unashamedly as they dug through the ruins for the bodies of seven fallen fire fighters.

'Accomplices' Of Cardinal Given Prison Sentences

(BULLETIN)

BUDAPEST, March 5.—(INS)—Thirteen Hungarians were sentenced today to prison terms ranging from one to eight years as "accomplices" of imprisoned Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

The Communist-dominated government had brought 14 defendants to trial on various charges of foreign currency speculation.

The defendants, including three priests, were accused of carrying out illegal currency deals to aid the Hungarian prime minister who was sentenced to life for treason and other charges.

Speculation On Molotov Ouster Of Wide Scope

Most Leaders and Diplomats Adopt "Wait and See" Attitude on Red Shake-up

MANY FACTORS IN SITUATION CITED

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The world outside of the Iron Curtain adopted a Missouri "show-me" attitude today to let the future prove whether the sensational shakeup in the Russian high command will end the cold war.

President Truman and top diplomats in a dozen western countries withheld comment on the Moscow announcement that Andrei Vishinsky had replaced V. M. Molotov as foreign minister.

There was virtually no comment on the disclosure that A. I. Mikoyan has succeeded M. A. Menshikov as minister of foreign trade.

Widespread Speculation

There was widespread speculation but no agreement on what the Russian moves meant.

The speculation ranged from forecasts that Russia would soon move to end the cold war to fears that Molotov and Menshikov are merely being punished for failing to halt the solidification of the western alliance against communism.

Officials in Washington declined to comment. They adopted a "wait and see" attitude, depending upon future Soviet actions for a clue to the solution of the world's No. 1 enigma.

Boiled down, the various and conflicting interpretations fell into these categories:

Some Possibilities

1. A new "peace offensive" by the Kremlin can be expected. This is based on the belief that Molotov, as author of the Berlin blockade and of a stiff attitude toward the west without achieving any settlement, has been repudiated.

2. Molotov, having failed in his opposition toward the west, is being replaced in order to inaugurate a more successful Soviet policy.

3. Molotov, in being retained as deputy premier, is now free to be groomed as successor to Stalin, who is in ill health.

4. Molotov, because of his failures, is being ditched as Stalin's heir. If this is true, Marshal (Continued on Page Two)

Declares Thorez Made Desperate Gamble In France

NEW YORK, March 5.—(INS)—Foreign Aid Administrator Hoffman said today that French Communist Leader Maurice Thorez made a "last desperate gamble" when he welcomed the possibility of Russian invasion of France.

Hoffman told the New York Herald-Tribune forum that Thorez' statement is the result of thumping political defeats of the Communists in Italy and France.

The economic cooperation administrator recalled how the Communists "fifth columns" first concentrated in Italy "to block recovery and win the election" only to lose. Hoffman said:

"They then turned their attention to France with the familiar pattern of activities, climaxing in the French coal strikes of last fall. Again they met stark defeat."

"Now, the Communist leader, Maurice Thorez, has gone the ultimate limit by calling on Frenchmen to embrace Russian invaders should they cross the French frontier."

"Only a man making a last desperate gamble would dare to show his hand and purpose so clearly," Hoffman asserted that the western nations can win any war as long as they remain united.

He said proof that the west is winning the cold war lies in statistics of steadily increasing peacetime production.

Reynaud Cites List Of Failures Laid To Molotov

PARIS, March 5.—(INS)—The "failures" of former Soviet foreign minister V. M. Molotov were listed today by Paul Reynaud, ex-premier of France, in connection with his replacement by Andrei Vishinsky as chief of the Soviet foreign office.

Reynaud told International News Service:

"Molotov's policy achieved for the Soviets a certain number of failures.

"It reinforced cohesion of the western powers in supplying blockaded Berlin by means of the airlift.

"It led to the birth of Western Germany.

"It intensified the military operations of the United States, which had been placed on the alert by the coup d'etat in Czechoslovakia and the suicide of (foreign minister) Jan Masaryk.

"It led to imminent conclusion of the Atlantic Pact and finally Norway's refusal to agree to the non-aggression pact offered by Russia.

"There is no link between Molotov's department and this series of setbacks."

Reynaud said he believed that Vishinsky's appointment, although he is "no more western nor accommodating than his predecessor" indicates a change in Soviet foreign policy "in which the friends of peace can rejoice."

U. N. MEMBERS ARE AMAZED AT RED SHIFT

privately to I. N. S. by a leading member of a non-Soviet land, closely affiliated with Communist organizations.

Although he admitted that "anything might happen" this source expressed belief that contrary to any demotion of Molotov, his replacement by Vishinsky is apt to foreshadow retirement by Premier Stalin in favor of Molotov.

He based his opinion on the fact that Stalin in recent years has felt the burden of age and recurrent illness more acutely and that he has probably reconciled himself to the necessity of retirement in favor of a younger man.

Another high-placed European diplomatic source told I. N. S. that inside his delegation there had been rumors recently of "something very big" developing by the end of March between Russia and the United States.

Philippine women were granted the right to vote in 1933.

Volant Mothers Hear Play Review

Delightful was the review of one of Broadway's outstanding plays, given by Mrs. Edward McNamara, Friday evening, when Volant Mothers' club assembled in the home of Mrs. James Houston, Volant. Mrs. McNamara substituted for Miss Patricia Kelly who was scheduled to speak.

"Happy Birthday" was sung for Mrs. E. Rosenholm, Mrs. Raymond Thompson, Mrs. William Holzhauser and Mrs. Houston. A great deal of merriment resulted from the sale of "white elephants" for the flower fund with Mrs. N. Biddle acting as auctioneer.

Mrs. Houston and Mrs. M. Shaffer and Mrs. Schaefer, co-hostesses, served a tempting tray lunch with the St. Patrick's Day motif being used for decoration. Mrs. R. Rosenholm, Volant, will entertain at her home Friday evening, April 1, when a representative of George Junior Republic, Grove City, will speak.

SET STAGE FOR CONFERENCE ON HOUSING COSTS

In producing the largest possible volume of new dwelling units for sale or rent at a lower cost in the shortest period of time.

At the conference next Thursday, it is hoped to bring together representatives of the building industry, including labor. This is no subsidy plan, and no sacrifices are to be asked of the building industry or labor, but a genuine effort is to be asked to step up efficiency in the building business so that housing can be produced at rock-bottom prices in order to alleviate the critical housing situation which is rampant throughout the country, Mrs. Heselbarth stated.

"The Greater New Castle Association of New Castle is actively cooperating with Director Heselbarth and his staff in arranging this meeting, L. B. Round, president of the Greater New Castle Association, stated. Any person interested will be welcome to attend, and it is hoped that much good will come of the conference.

Mr. Heselbarth stated, "If this program goes through—and it must—New Castle will witness the greatest home-building year in its history."

RUSSIAN SHAKEUP OF GREAT IMPORT

er enjoyed warm popular support among the Russian masses who considered him cold and standoffish. In fact there have been many jokes about this Molotov trait.

The sources said they believed the Russian people are just as bewildered as the rest of the world, with many Russians bound to believe that Stalin fired his foreign minister.

It was pointed out that the renewal of the pact would not want such an impression created if Molotov were being promoted. Western diplomats admit they could be wrong about this, and that Molotov actually is preparing to succeed Stalin because of the latter's declining health. But they added the belief this is extremely doubtful in view of the recent failure of Soviet policy.

every four years it is felt that the renewal of the pact would be less likely to become a campaign issue. Following a two and one-half hour meeting yesterday, the envoys of the interested powers expressed hope that the final text will soon be agreed upon.

Another meeting will be held early next week, probably Monday. There is some doubt that this will be the final meeting.

The adherence of Norway to the pact discussions and the possibility that Denmark may seek to join before final signing threatened some further delay.

CHARGE PAIR HELD IN NEW YORK CARRIED STOLEN DOCUMENTS

the two were seized by FBI agents in midtown Manhattan consisted of typewritten summaries of Justice department documents involving national security.

Pair Identified

Clark identified the pair, who are being held on charges of conspiracy to remove secret information from government files, as: Miss Judith Coplon, 27, an employee of the Justice department's criminal division in Washington, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a member of the Russian delegation to the United Nations.

The sensational case, bared by the attorney general shortly before daybreak, marked the first time since the onset of the cold war that a Russian official has been arrested on espionage charges in the United States.

Lake Success, N. Y., March 5—U. S. Secretary

General Trygve Lie announced today that Valentine A. Gubitchev has been suspended from the United Nations secretariat pending investigation of FBI charges that he conspired to steal U. S. documents.

Federal agents closed in on the couple after trailing Miss Coplon from Washington to New York Friday afternoon and keeping her under surveillance when she made contact with Gubitchev.

The FBI said the Russian and the American girl "appeared at an appointed meeting place at 193rd street and Broadway" at 7:23 p. m. but avoided direct contact while employing the numerous techniques used to detect surveillances.

Pair Shadowed

Agents shadowed the pair and finally saw them dash aboard a bus near 42nd street.

Miss Coplon and Gubitchev were taken into custody on Third avenue when the bus reached a point between 14th and 15th streets.

The Justice department announcement said: "Miss Coplon had concealed in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of confidential documents involving security data and restricted information."

The girl is a native of Brooklyn who has been in the employ of the Justice department since 1943. Clark said the case has been under investigation for weeks and that it was disclosed under the federal employee loyalty program.

Meetings Disclosed

The attorney general added: "The resulting investigation disclosed clandestine meetings between Miss Coplon and Gubitchev, continued investigation revealed that Miss Coplon's activities on March 4, 1949, paralleled her activities prior to other meetings with Gubitchev, and accordingly her activities were closely scrutinized from the moment she departed from Washington at 1 p. m. Friday."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that Miss Coplon "observed extreme caution from the moment she arrived in New York until her contact with Gubitchev."

The Russian is described as third secretary of the Soviet secretariat to the United Nations, assigned to the UN Manhattan office. In New York, Miss Coplon's parents collapsed when informed of her arrest. Her brother, Bertram Coplon, 32, said he was going to the FBI office to "find out why they are holding my sister." He added:

"We don't know anything about this. My mother and father are both quite ill and this kind of hounding can kill them."

Although Attorney General Clark said the papers found on the girl involved national security, the Justice department emphasized that Miss Coplon had been closely watched for a considerable time. This indicated that the stolen material may have been a "plant."

A state department spokesman said that Gubitchev may escape prosecution through diplomatic immunity. The official pointed out that under United Nations protocol, delegation members enjoy the same immunity as that granted to regular diplomatic representatives of foreign governments.

This, the spokesman said, is believed to extend to such criminal conspiracy charges as those on which the Russian and Miss Coplon were arrested.

Beria, head of the secret police, may emerge as Stalin's successor. This will mean an even tougher policy toward the west.

Congressional comment was also divided. Some leaders declined to comment at all while others urged the western world to adopt a wait and see policy.

A large number of events in recent months might show not only Russia but all her satellite countries that present Soviet policy is a failure. These include:

1. America is the sole possessor of the atomic bomb.
2. America's ability to deliver the atomic bomb anywhere, as shown by the non-stop round-the-world flight of the air force's B-50 super-bomber earlier this week.
3. Failure of the communist drive in Greece.
4. Election of an Italian government opposed to communism.
5. Failure of communism to take over power in France.
6. Success of the Marshall plan in its first year in Europe along with American determination to give further aid to western democracies.
7. Early confirmation of the north Atlantic defense treaty as a military alliance against any Soviet aggression.
8. The decision of Norway and Denmark to defy Russia and join the north Atlantic pact nations.

LOOKING AT LIFE

that sincerity is a virtue, that you should never, never lie, and that hypocrisy is an unforgivable sin. What would you do, my dear?

Let us say you are a man. Another man asks you "Have you heard the latest joke?" Without waiting for you answer he continues, here it is: "Your husband looks like a brilliant man. I suppose he knows everything." "No, he doesn't even suspect anything."

You have probably heard the awful joke several times. But your friend thinks he is a brilliant raconteur, a man of the world.

Are you going to disillusion him?

Or are you going to keep a friend?

Sincerity, you know, may be first cousin to cruelty.

JOBS UPON A TIME

SENATOR GEORGE David Aiken of Vermont is looked upon as a Republican liberal. Aiken is a former governor of his state, and has owned a farm since he was a youth. He is considered one of the leaders of the powerful farm bloc. He was born in Dummerston, Vt., and at 14 was a member of the local branch of the National Grange. After graduation from Brattleboro high school, in 1909, Aiken and a friend borrowed $100 to plant a patch of raspberries, which later grew to 500 acres and included a nursery. He served in the Vermont legislature, and was elected lieutenant governor of the state in 1935, and in 1937 won the governorship, to which he was re-elected in 1939. Aiken was elected to the United States Senate in 1941. Mrs. George Aiken, the former Beatrice M. Howard, to whom the senator was married in 1914, maintains their home in Putney, Vt. They have four children, three girls and one boy.

You've Been Comfortable All Winter,
Ever Think Of The Reason For It?

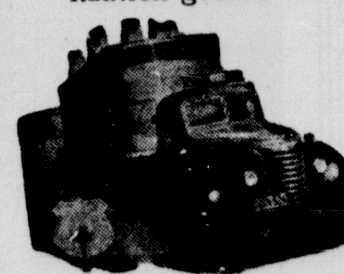

Your home has been warm and snug during all of winter's blasts and chills. Down in the basement you have had plenty of coal, chuck full of B. T. U.'s., just waiting for you to chuck a scoop full into the furnace.

How did the coal get there? Motor trucks of course. You called your dealer and in an hour or so the coal was being unloaded into your coal bin.

Without the motor trucks to haul it, you might have spent a lot of shivery days and nights.

Look around your home. There's hardly a thing but what has been hauled by motor truck at some time in its route from raw materials to finished product.

The motor truck is a symbol of our modern civilization, a civilization geared to motors and motor trucks.

IMPORTANT "WEEKS"

"Weeks" are being proclaimed in such rapid sequence—frequently three or four in one seven-day period—that the public largely ignores this phenomena. But March 5 to 13 has been designated as National 4-H Week—by the 4-H Clubs, of course—and the observance does seem to have merit.

Because of the importance of 4-H work in the American way of life, this observance should be universal. Directly or indirectly, activities of 4-H clubs have a wholesome influence upon a large segment of the population. It has often been said, and generally admitted, that the 4-H clubs, together with the Future Farmers of America, are doing much to make the farm more attractive and profitable for the younger generation.

In the final analysis, the security of this nation rests upon what is produced from the soil. Food is the nation's first and best line of defense. It is the sole purpose of the 4-H clubs to produce more and better food, to bring progress and advancement in agriculture through intelligent and improved methods.

Whatever support is given by the public is an investment in the youth of the nation which is certain to pay great dividends. Contributing greatly to the economic welfare of the country, 4-H youth ask little and give much. Their importance has been proved so often that universal support, not only through this special observance, but throughout the year, is called for.

NEW CASTLE DID IT

Louis B. Round, of this city, cited New Castle as a splendid example of what a community can do, "lifting itself by its own bootstraps" industrially, in accepting the presidency of (Norpac) the Northwestern Pennsylvania Council for Industrial and Area Development a recent meeting of the organization held at Titusville.

He stated that the purpose or purposes for which the (nonprofit) corporation is formed is to study and stimulate interest in natural resources; the need for new industry; the expansion and development of existing industry; as well as Community Development, in the Northwest Region of Pennsylvania, with the aim of increasing employment and payrolls, and bettering living conditions.

Also to coordinate the activities of the people, and the facilities of those agencies already established, for Northwestern Pennsylvania's industrial and commercial growth, its recreational development, and its agricultural well being.

SIGNIFICANCE OF NON-STOP WORLD FLIGHT

First non-stop round-the-world flight in history, just completed by a B-50 bomber, has a significance that will be understood readily by the military planners of all nations.

It demonstrates, as General Curtis E. LeMay points out, that the Air Force is now able, through refueling in air, to send a bomber to any place in the world where one may be required.

Of only slightly secondary importance is the fact that the Air Force found that it was able to keep in communication with its plane during the entire 23,108-mile flight and could have given the crew new orders at any time. This advance in technique has far reaching implications for commercial, as well as military, aviation.

There should be no disappointment in the fact that the "Lucky Lady II" did not set a time record for this globe-girding trip. The purpose of the flight was to demonstrate the possibilities of refueling methods and in this it was eminently successful. The elapsed time of 94 hours and one minute between the takeoff Saturday at Fort Worth, Tex., and the landing at the same base compares with the 78 hours and one minute between the takeoff Saturday at Fort Worth, Tex., and the landing at the same base compares with the 78 hours, 55 minutes, 12 seconds it took William Odom and Milton Reynolds to fly a 20,000-mile course in 1947, making several stops for fuel.

The latest flight will be accepted by Americans as welcome evidence that our leadership in aviation is being maintained. To potential enemies the exploit should be a serious warning against launching an attack.

It is regarded as unlikely that prices of durable goods will remain at their present high level, with quotations for commodities off one-third. Taxes, apparently, are neither durable goods nor commodities.

Hints On Etiquette

It is correct to talk in church after the service has started—and that means that the music has begun—the prelude—but if you must convey a message, do it in a whisper and make it brief.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Initial disappointment has given way to something close to indignation in Rome today over hesitancy on the western powers with regard to Italy's inclusion in the North Atlantic pact.

An Italian foreign office spokesman bitterly criticized what he termed "exaggerated opposition" to Italy's participation. The government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi obviously is smarting under the inference that Italy might prove to be an "uncertain ally" in event of conflict between East and West.

The feeling is understandable. The Italian people know better than anyone else that they were misled to near disaster in two world wars.

They are convinced they will never make such a mistake again and feel they have furnished ample proof of their conversion to real democracy.

In Italy's Favor

Many factors do stand in Italy's favor despite the fact she initially favored the wrong side in previous wars.

One is her strategic position in the Mediterranean, a great garrison of strength virtually bisecting that sea. Along with this consideration are Italy's fine ports, shipbuilding centers and maritime ability, all tremendous assets for the Allies if emergency should arise.

Second is the splendid use to which Italy has put the assistance given to her under the European recovery program.

The Italians have made monumental strides in postwar rehabilitation and reconstruction.

They are a poor people. But their great factories in the north are operated better even than in Mussolini's boastful hey-day and there is a spread of material benefits far below the crust of the fascist and imperial hierarchies.

Combats Communism

Third, no nation has done more to combat communism actively. While the Roman Catholic church has been a major factor in preserving democracy, the national will is strong against totalitarianism except on the left-wing and among a minority group of extreme rights who had been called "neofascists."

Behind these material evidences of eligibility for defense cooperation with the West is the whole background of Italy's postwar experiences and activities.

The people themselves, and not an outside power, got rid of Mussolini. King Victor Emmanuel and the latter's son Humberto in what was perhaps the most eloquent and genuine display of democratic sentiment in modern times.

They have made commendable efforts to atone for the error of their ways, and while they are demanding a return or a trusteeship over their former African colonies, these are based on a premise of their own fitness to administer them in the interests of all the western world.

Would Appear Logical

From the military viewpoint, Italy's inclusion in the Atlantic pact would appear logical even though she has no border on that ocean. The same applies to Denmark and Sweden, as a matter of fact and there is no lack of enthusiasm among the western democracies for participation of these countries along with Norway.

It was well remembered that during the war when it became time for the Allies to strike at Hitler's Europe, there was much talk about Italy as the "soft underbelly" which presumably was most vulnerable to attack.

Geographically, if not from a purely military viewpoint, this was proved wrong. Anzio and Nettuno, the battles at Cassino, the costly Rapido and Garigliano crossings, and the mile upon mile of cemeteries now stand as witness to the fact that Italy's terrain is formidable.

Therefore, if there is to be a next war, Italy could be a vast bulwark of Allied strength, a short distance from the vital bases of North Africa and magnificent flank for France and the rest of western Europe in case of attack.

The Italian does not see what more they can do to improve their honesty and sincerity. They want the dignity that would accrue from membership in the western union and the security arrangement and feel definitely that they have earned the honor. They have suffered much, materially and spiritually, and feel that the time has come for absolution.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUNG CHILD ENJOYS STORIES

In the infant's early months you prepare him to enjoy being read to later. As you care for him—bathe him, dress and undress him—you talk in tender tones to him, sing to him and say nursery rhymes to him. As soon as he begins to look at pictures in a book or magazine for a few moments at a stretch, you talk to him about these pictures. Soon you show him lovely pictures which illustrate a nursery rhyme or a very, very short story. While he looks at the picture you talk about it—you read. Gradually he connects in his little head what he then sees and hears. What he sees gives more and more meaning to what he hears and what he hears enriches what he sees.

I can't think of one other single continuous service to the baby, tot and young child that has such rich and lasting value in his education as reading to him. Here are some pertinent facts about reading to a young child:

1. Story reading can begin earlier than story telling. The picture attracts the child's attention. While he looks at it he hears what is said about it—he hears some or all the story.

Telling a Story

2. Only a few persons can tell a story well, or think they can. Almost any person caring for the baby or tot can read to him.

3. When a child hears a story read the language he hears is better than a rule that when the story is told. Besides, he hears exactly the same words, phrases and sentences over and over when the story is read. This sameness the little child likes and it, obviously is better for his speech development. Furthermore, the story read, if it has been well selected, has better patterns of English than the average parent would use. If he told the story. Of course, telling stories is valuable, too. It may be well to do both.

4. Reading to the young child calms and quiets him.

Good Companionship

5. It affords good companionship between him and the parent, grandparent or older child, especially between the young listener and his father or older brother or sister. And what boon reading is to the baby sitter.

6. Reading to the young child fires his imagination and stimulates his creativity.

7. It broadens his information.

8. It enriches his vocabulary.

9. It gives him new patterns of speech and paves the way for his good oral English later.

10. Reading to the child helps him connect what he hears read with the book.

11. It therefore, creates in him a tenderness toward books.

12. It makes him wish to read such stories from a book himself by and by.

13. It stimulates his interest in meaning rather than in mere words. A child often read to in his early years will hardly become a mere word reader.

14. It exercises him in good habits of concentration. He learns to listen raptly, which ability will be very useful to him when he goes to school. Perhaps no other training will prove so helpful later to the child's learning at school.

15. Reading to the child gives him a vast deal of happiness.

16. And it's good for the person who reads to the baby or young child. It improves his own ease and usefulness of speech, since the best stories for children are in simple, vivid, picturesque and forthright English. When an older child reads to the baby or tot, this older child, be he only an average or poor reader, greatly improves his own reading skill. Perhaps no tutor could help a poor reader so much as this poor reader can help himself by reading to an eager little listener.

Trying To Make Ends Meet

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

More Than Spectacular Feat

CARSWELL AIR FORCE BASE, FORT WORTH, Texas, March 5.—(INS)—The sun has burned off the morning mist. In the brilliant sky the tiny speck becomes a four-motored plane. It is the plane we have all been waiting for as darkness slowly yielded to the dawn.

Newsreel, press, radio gather about the strip where the Lucky Lady II will land. From the control tower the word is shouted down, "Over the field at 10:21:40."

Lucky Lady II with her crew of 14 has made a non-stop, round-the-world flight in 94 hours and one minute. She is, officially, two minutes off the estimated schedule which is almost too perfect.

Pushes Defenses Out

At first glance this has the look of another spectacular feat—just another "first." But it is a lot more than that. In the concept of top air force planners this is the dawn of a new era—defense being considered always as the capacity to carry an offensive to an aggressor—forward in a great arc.

In the concept the first line of air defense is the B-36, a bomber that has carried a bomb load more than 4,000 miles and has flown back more than 4,000 miles to its base. The B-36 operates today at an altitude of 40,000 feet—so high that fighter interceptors run into difficulties. That ceiling is being pushed higher.

The B-36 bombers, concentrated here for training purposes, will soon be based in numbers at Fairbanks, Alaska, Goose Bay, Newfoundland, and at the huge new base being built at Limestone, Me. You take a 4,000-mile range from those bases and you cover most of the vital geography on this globe.

Now add the new step-up demonstrated to be practical by the achievement of Lucky Lady II and her crew. This means that, by refueling in the air, fleets of B-50s and B-29s have a range at least equal to the big new bomber, the B-36.

Range Beyond Moscow

That is the matter-of-fact statement of Lt. Gen. Curtis LeMay, commander of the strategic air force. Once Lucky Lady II had been refueled for the first time—

Fun follows when the work of day is done; Not with the rise, but with the set of sun. Fun is the sweet reward that is returned, To be enjoyed when it is truly earned.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright 1949, By The Baltimore Sun)

Effort To Reduce U. S. Expenses

Washington, March 5. THE small minority of elected officials in Washington, deeply concerned about the condition of the Federal finances and acutely aware of the accumulating dangers of uncontrollable deficits and unchecked debt, nevertheless, up to now, has continued valiantly to make its fight for retrenchment and to regain fiscal stability.

THEY have done this despite the fact that public resistance to reckless spending appears to lessen as the size, cost and waste of the Government operation increase. During last year for example, Senator Byrd points out, more than 108,000 new civilian employees have been piled on the public pay roll. However, if two things happen at the current session of Congress this band of men who, undismayed, have been battling against heavy odds for sixteen years will throw up the sponge and quit. This will not be because they have lost courage or gone soft or changed their views. It will be because the sheer futility of keeping up the fight will have become so clear that it would be silly to do so.

THE first of these things concerns the Hoover Commission's report on reorganization of the executive branch. Detached men who know enough about this report intelligently to discuss it are agreed on four things: (1) That it is the most comprehensive and thorough ever made by a Government commission; (2) That its main recommendations are adopted not only would efficiency of Government be greatly enhanced but about $3,000,000,000 a year would be saved; (3) That opposition from the Federal jobholders and their political sponsors is formidable and determined; (4) That if the main features of the report are not accepted by Congress all hope of ever getting the Federal machine to manageable proportions will disappear. Clearly, this is the last chance.

THE second thing which would end the fight for retrenchment concerns the veterans' bonus and pension bills, introduced in the House at this session. If the Hoover report fails, the prospect of averting national bankruptcy will certainly be decreased. But if, on top of that, the general pension and bonus proposals—which, according to Mr. Harold A. Keats, national commander of the American Veterans of World War II, were approved by a 10-to-1 vote—should be approved by the House this session, why then, say the doleful advocates of national solvency, it would, indeed, be "Kitty, bar the door." For the unbroken bonus and pension history in this country shows that any general bonus or pension bill getting that far becomes a law within about three years. Though Senators reject and Presidents veto, the weight behind the bill is so great that it is a single known instance in which any general bill of this kind has permanently failed.

IF and when the present bonus and pension proposals meet success, the cost to the Government is estimated at from $40,000,000,000 to $67,500,000,000. What that will do to an already overburdened fiscal structure need not be described. Clear-headed members of Congress shudder when they think of it. No such bill will go through this year. Though the House may pass it, the Senate will not; or, if it did, Mr. Truman would veto it just as Mr. Coolidge vetoed one in 1924 and Mr. Hoover vetoed one in 1931 and Mr. Roosevelt vetoed one in 1935 and again in 1936. In each of those instances the bill was finally passed over the President's veto and became law. If, say the forecasters, the House passes the bill by an emphatic vote this session, it easily may become law at the next session as 1950 is an election year. If not, then it is sure to pass, regardless of a veto, before the 1952 session ends. That is the prospect. Is it surprising the retrenchment group should feel futile?

WHEN it is considered that already eight states have voted bonuses amounting to four times the total state bonuses provided after World War I; that in ten more states proposals are pending which if approved would bring the total state cash payments to $2,800,000,000; that when the soldiers were mustered out they received additional pay—and later still were voted "terminal leave" pay by Congress; that they receive many additional advantages, such as insurance policies, etc., under the so-called GI Bill of Rights—when all these things are considered, the hope of members of Congress that this time the demand for a Federal bonus would not develop can be understood. The hope was bolstered by an enlightened attitude taken by many service men who sought to identify the veterans' interest with the national interest, who pointed out that bonuses eventually must be paid by the taxpayers, including veterans, and declared the veteran ought to be "a citizen first and a veteran second."

IT now seems that that hope was not well founded. The demand for a Federal bonus on top of the state bonuses and the GI privileges and compensations has been made and bonus history is expected to repeat itself in a big way. Veteran Administration expenditures are now running close to $7,000,000,000 a year, which is seven times as much as in 1933, when the late President Roosevelt forced a reduction to less than $600,000,000 on the plea that the country could not carry the load. In less than two years the total was greater than before, which shows the power of the forces behind the bonus demands. They are, of course, stronger now than they were then. When the state bonus drive has succeeded, they will be in position to concentrate upon the Federal bonus. The measure of its success will be the character of the House action at this session. State Police Say:

It is the moral duty of every driver to be on the alert for children playing in the streets and highways, and to remember that they may dash out from the sidewalk or from behind a parked car. In all communities school children are being taught safety. Drivers should cooperate in this good work and take every precaution to insure child safety. "I'm sorry" will never return the life of a child taken by a careless driver.

They Say

WASHINGTON—Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war: "We are now operating as a power bloc. There is but one thing certain about a power alliance and that is that, historically speaking, power blocs have always led to war."

NEW YORK—Former President Herbert Hoover: "Our People, under the illusion that money from Washington is pure mana, are selling right and left their birthright as free men and their responsibilities in a free man's government in order to get it."

NEW YORK—General Dwight D. Eisenhower: "I believe the amount of armed force is not too great under present conditions, but scrutinize every cent and see that it is spent wisely and efficiently. A swollen military budget may destroy from within what you are trying to prevent from without."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Francis Adams Truslow, president of the New York curb market: "Government guaranteed security works well so long as new sources of taxation keep the money pouring in. But when new funds are no longer supplied, governments . . . must resort to confiscation, money manipulation, repudiation and force."

SWEET AND PEPPY

Betty is sweet and peppy and we like her that way. It takes a lot of things to keep Betty in good condition.

Perhaps proper food has something to do with it.

Gingerbread is sweet and peppy too. The ginger gives it some snap and the molasses gives it some iron.

If Betty eats plenty of gingerbread it may help her to keep lots of oomph.

Iron in the blood is better than rouge on the cheeks. A little lip scrub sometimes seems to help some too.

Pre-Easter Contest Will Attract Many On Second Sunday

Expect Record Crowds To Attend
Sunday Schools On Sunday If Good Weather Prevails

With a little cooperation from the weather man, a very large attendance will be recorded in the Bible schools of the city and county on Sunday when the second Sunday of the eight week pre-Easter attendance contest gets under way. Both individuals and Bible classes have been putting on spirited visitation movements in order to boost their attendances and to get those out who have been missing Sunday school for some little time.

Sunday's attendances are expected to make some changes in the first set of figures printed in The News Friday, which showed the campaign leaders and those who followed them in the contest. Churches participating in the contest should get their record cards in the hands of Mrs. Myra Elliot of the Highland church as soon as possible after Sunday, in order that the campaign figures can be compiled and printed in The News.

Church pastors are benefiting by the contest, as attendance in the morning worship service counts along with the Sunday school attendance. Good congregations are expected in most churches of the district due to the enthusiasm worked up over participation in the contest.

MINISTERS TO MEET ON MONDAY MORNING

Continued discussion on the proposed constitution and by-laws of the New Castle Ministerial Association will occupy the pastors Monday morning at their regular session in First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson street. The first reading of the constitution began at the last meeting and will be completed Monday.

Miss Alice Sterling will give a report concerning the library, while preceding the regular meeting, the ministers will preview the film, "The First Easter".

Rev. R. F. Galbreath will direct the devotions while Rev. Shields will direct the meeting.

Church Council To Distribute Seals

Fred Allen, president of the New Castle Council of Churches, has announced that on Sunday afternoon, a canvass of the city will be made by church workers in which they will distribute seals to be attached on windows in connection with church attendance. The seals read, "Let's Go To Church".

The workers will cover the city with the stickers which are in keeping with the Lenten season and the pre-Easter attendance campaign. Cooperation is being received from all the church.

Associate Pastor Arrives In City

Rev. Arthur D. Wenger Will Assume Duties At First Christian Church On Sunday

Rev. Arthur D. Wenger, newly elected associate pastor of the First Christian church on the Diamond, has arrived in the city and will preach his first sermon in that capacity Sunday morning in that church. He has chosen for his initial address, "Looking Forward".

Mr. and Mrs. Wenger and their two-year-old son, Arthur Frank, arrived in the city late Thursday and have taken up temporary residence in the Sussex Apartments on North Mercer street. The First Christian congregation has purchased a parsonage at 202 East Garfield avenue and the Wengers will move into it in a month upon its vacancy by the present occupants.

Plans have been made for a reception on March 18 in the church when the new family will be greeted by the congregation. Installation services are planned for Sunday, March 20, in the afternoon, when Rev. Bennett will be aided by Rev. N. Quentin Grey of Butler, Rev. James N. Rainey and a representative of the New Castle Ministerial Association in the service.

Rev. Wenger will assist primarily in the young peoples work of the church as well as aid Dr. Bennett in his pastoral duties.

No opinions wanted!

Each day we get letters from readers. They praise and condemn, approve and protest. They are a yardstick of freedom.

As long as you can pick up your pen and express your opinions, one way or the other, about something that appears in this newspaper, you are a free citizen. And when you cannot comment because this newspaper cannot print the facts and opinions that stir you to write, freedom in this country is dead.

Look through this issue. Note the array of happenings, good and bad, that are reported so that you can be informed and shape your life accordingly. Read the opinions—ours and those of lawmakers, labor leaders, businessmen and educators. Some may please. You may disagree with others. But they are here for you to read, study, accept or reject as you wish.

Imagine not being able to do so! Don't think it can't happen. When the war was raging, you were concerned about freedom. Perhaps for the first time you saw how much people need a free press in order to be free. Because Mussolini and Hitler are dead, don't take it for granted that freedom is safe. To keep it intact calls for ceaseless vigilance.

Today there are men and women—some well-meaning but short-sighted, some malignant—who would enslave you. They form committees, pass high-sounding resolutions and agitate for laws.

One of their first attacks is on your freedom to know. They would deny you access to information—facts and opinions—except that which they claim is good for you. In effect they want no opinions published except their own. They know that, if they can control what you read, they can control your mind. They seek to limit the free exchange of facts and opinions now available. They talk about the necessity of limiting the press. When they say that, they mean limiting you.

Freedom of the press doesn't belong exclusively to newspapers. It belongs to everyone. The newspapers are minority owners. Freedom of the press means freedom to read as well as freedom to publish. When newspapers become propaganda mouthpieces, they are not free—and neither are you.

The choice is yours. You can shut off your access to what is going on in this country and throughout the world by following these self-styled leaders. Or you can refuse to be led into ignorance and slavery—refuse to give up your right to know as a self-governing free citizen.

Your right to know is the key to all your liberties

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Howard Cullman, the play backer, hired a new butler recently, named Jenkins, whose deportment on his first morning proclaimed him a gem. Cullman's clothes were laid out beautifully, breakfast was ready, and as he was leaving, Jenkins handed him his hat and newspaper.

There was a short flight of stairs to descend, and unfortunately, Cullman tripped over the top step. When he tripped again the following morning at the same spot he became suspicious. The third morning he caught Jenkins red-handed, or red-footed, slyly preparing to trip him deliberately again.

Cullman figured that the butler needed a psychiatrist more than an employer and fired him. A week later Dick Rodgers telephoned.

"I've been interviewing a butler named Jenkins. He's given you as a reference."

"He's a fine butler," Cullman answered, "but I warn you: he'll trip you up. I think he's nuts." Rodgers laughed indulgently and hung up. A few days later Rodgers met Cullman at the Ritz Grill. The composer had a black eye and a bruised lip. "You guessed it Howard," he told Cullman, "I hired your butler."

Budget Slips

Are Showing

FALLS CHURCH, Va.—(INS)—To justify proposed tax levy increases, city officials of Falls Church, Va., put municipal services on display—with their price tags showing.

According to the Municipal Finance Officers association, the city exhibited everything from policemen's revolvers to water meters—all marked with their increased cost, to back up the record budget request.

The display coincided with the public hearing on the budget which calls for an increased tax rate of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

All city departments had individual exhibit booths. The city road department produced a yard of road material to show its composition and cost.

In addition to firearms, the police showed price-marked traffic safety devices. The firemen brought out fire-fighting apparatus and the water and sewer departments displayed their equipment—all with costs plainly showing.

The musical comedy is a form of entertainment developed almost exclusively by English-speaking peoples.

Make Protest On Wage Tax

New Castle Workers Employed At National Tube Company Send Council Protest

Following communication has been presented to the mayor and councilmen of New Castle by workmen of this city who are employed at the National Tube Company plant in Ellwood City, protesting the imposing of the one per cent wage tax upon them.

The communication is as follows:

We the following workers who are not in favor of this one per cent wage tax that you men have forced upon us after you had been elected into office by some of our votes who are property owners and live in the city of New Castle, Pa., of which you represent.

We are against this form of City Government and though we are forced to go along, we are going to pay this one per cent wage tax but it shall be paid under protest by all of us.

It is unfair and we feel it is un-American because it is none of your business or our neighbor's business what we are making to live on. To our way of thinking, this is purely a Communistic form of government when a community in which you live must know what its citizen's earning power is.

It is too bad that we have such representation in our state legislation that they would allow such a rotten tax be forced upon the people living within that state.

Little did we the people of this community think that the men we had helped would stoop so low that they would be in favor of this one per cent wage tax. (Personal Tax), or should we say Communistic tax for that is just what it is and you men that represent we the people of this city adopted it.

We are not in favor of any Communistic laws and this is surely not a law that a democracy would use that our boys fought for and died for. It was bad enough when you voted day-light savings time after the people had voted against it and then behind closed doors you favored the minority and not the majority.

It is time that we the people stood up for our rights as American citizens and we mean stand up for what we know is right.

Do you men of city council feel that this one per cent wage tax is going to help you to be elected again when you seek to be re-elected into public office. Well this is not the way a progressive city does business and we the following men work in a progressive city and earn our livelihood there and though we live in New Castle, Pa., we do not feel that we should be forced to pay this type of taxes. We are paying this under protest knowing that you men have forced same upon us but there shall come a day and we shall not forget you gentlemen.

Part of the progressive workers of the National Tube Company, Ellwood City, Pa.

K. Of C. Council Day Of Prayer

Sunday, March 6, Chosen As Communion Day In Behalf Of Cardinal Mindszenty

Local Knights of Columbus Council is complying with the request of the supreme Knight John E. Swift of K. of C., to have the first Sunday in Lent; March 6, as communion Sunday for the intention of Cardinal Mindszenty and Archbishop Sheen.

This day was chosen by the executive committee of the board of directors. Members of all Councils are urged to receive Holy Communion and to offer prayers for this worthy intention.

While legal and diplomatic forces are endeavoring to right the wrongs, the spiritual welfare of these modern martyrs should be considered. Thus, March 6 was selected as a day of prayer.

Grand Knight, William Howley is in charge of arrangements of this day of prayer, for the local group.

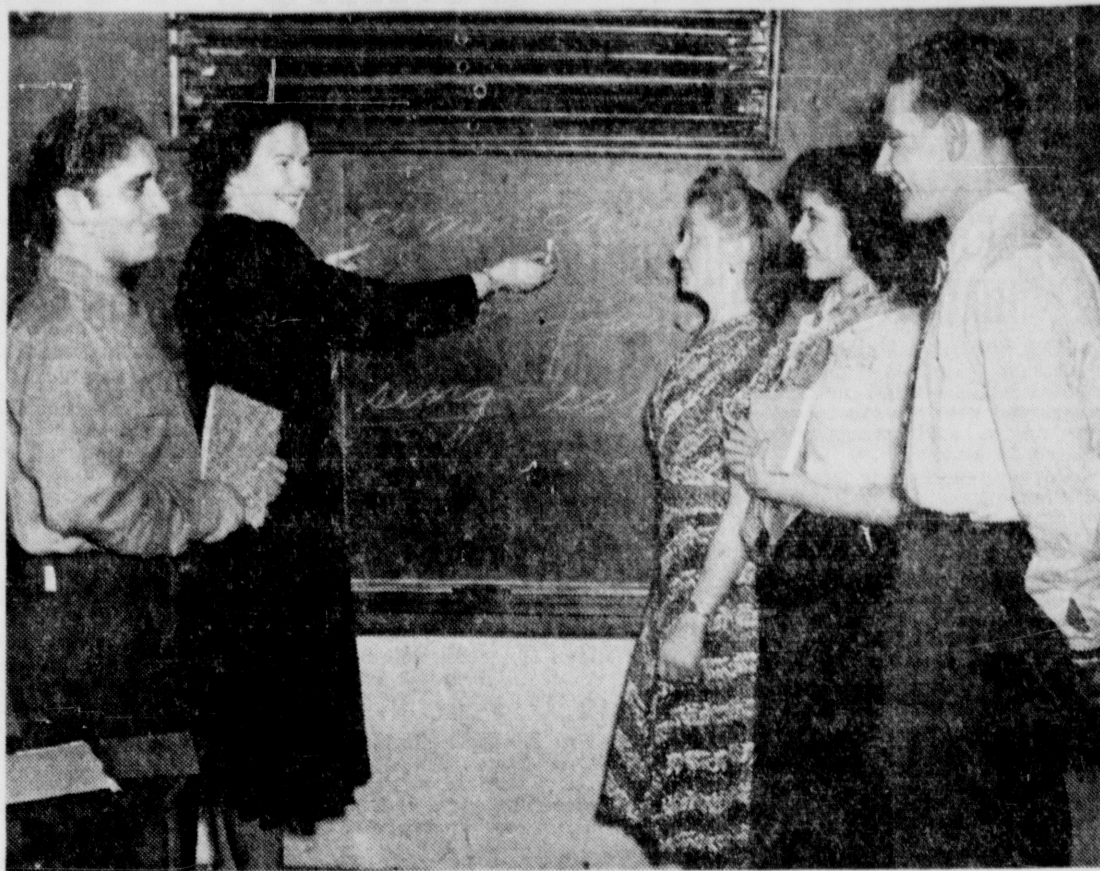

HOTEL EMPLOYEES ORGANIZED HERE

Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union No. 785 of New Castle, was organized on February 23, 1949.

Temporary officers are Michael C. Klingensmith, president; Mark McKinnon, vice-president; Blanche White, financial secretary, business agent, and treasurer.

Next meeting, Sunday, March 13, at Trades and Labor Assembly hall, at 2 o'clock.

Staying after school to talk to the teacher and to learn more is contrary to the usual pattern of behavior followed by most high school students today. However, among the night classes under the adult education program at New Castle Senior High, there is one class that is noted because of its reluctance to leave after a three-hour session.

It is the class of students enrolled in the English classes for the foreign born that meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. More than 40 students regularly attend these classes that are marked by their informality and the pleasant, good natured spirit of both the teacher and her students.

Miss Jessica Jenkins is the instructor in the course. One of her qualifications is not knowing how to speak the native tongue of each of the nationalities represented in her class. These include Syrian, Italian, German, Slavic, French and Arabic. However, her skill, patience and pleasing personality supplemented by a standardized text book have enabled most of the students to make rapid progress in learning the tongue of their adopted land.

Varied Backgrounds
The background of the people who make up the class is as interesting as it is varied. Several are brides of American soldiers that were wooed and wed when the GIs were spread to all corners of the world. Another was a soldier in the Italian army who sought admission to the United States after the defeat in North Africa rather than return to Italy.

Three brothers are enrolled in the English class. They are part of a family of seven that has been in this country less than two months. They all came with their father from Syria when he accepted a pastorate in New Castle. Others have lived in this country for 10 or 12 years and are just now taking advantage of the opportunity to learn good English.

All seem grateful for the chance to learn and some have enrolled in the course for the third or fourth time. At Valentine Day, the students came burdened with packages of good things to eat, and the very informal class session became even more so as the group enjoyed a splendid party.

New York Professor Talks On Finances

Dr. Jules Backman, associate professor of Economics, New York University, school of commerce accounts and finances, gave a highly interesting talk, Thursday evening before a group of Economic and Business Foundation members in the city.

Dr. Backman told the group that the net effect of higher taxes upon business profits would be to accelerate the deflationary tendencies which at the present time seems likely to be confined pretty largely to the soft good sector of the economy. Although lower profits appear to be in prospect for 1949, the group was told, the higher corporate taxes would accelerate the profit decline and reduce funds available to industry.

Undistributed profits of the past year, according to the professor, have helped to provide jobs and to sustain the economy at the boom time levels reached in the post-war years. The listeners were urged not to be confused from reports showing high returns on net worth as these "sensational" returns in most cases largely reflect a comparison of overstated reported profits with understated worth.

Pennsylvania Bans 'Paddling The Frosh'

PHILADELPHIA, March 5. — (INS)—The tradition of "paddling the frosh" is extinct now at the university of Pennsylvania. The interfraternity council yesterday banned paddling as well as outlandish costume, haircut or personal adornment on campus.

The council also ruled that freshmen must have at least a D plus average to be admitted to a fraternity.

Royal Air Force Flies New Aircraft

Falcon Said To Be Deadliest Diver-bomber Yet To Fly On Horizon; Will Attack Birds

LONDON. — (INS)—The latest combat group to go into operational service with the Royal Air Force is composed of nature's deadliest divebomber—the falcon.

This move is part of an RAF drive to eliminate aerial accidents caused by birds flying into warplanes—accidents which are costing Britain $80,000 annually. The falcons are trained to attack birds that flock on or over airfields.

In 1947 there were 13 accidents in Britain and 17 in other parts of the world caused by birds—mostly plovers, seagulls and rooks—damaging planes by direct contact. The birds flew into windshields, propellers and wings, the larger birds causing havoc. It was estimated that damage done to RAF aircraft alone by birds during 1945-46 was $140,000.

So far, the new RAF scheme is paying a 100 per cent dividend. Civil airmen suffering from bird flocking also are making trials. It has been found that one peep of the winged killer is enough to send most flocking birds home with their engines wide open.

World War II was responsible for the use of magnetite ore as ships' ballast. The West Coast ship building industry, developed during hostilities, was obliged to find a heavy substitute for valuable iron and steel scrap. Locally available magnetite fitted the specifications of weight for volume and was put into service. It proved satisfactory and in many cases the practice has continued.

Senator Rebels At Speedy Action On State Tax Measure

HARRISBURG, March 5.—(INS)—State Sen. George N. Wade (R), Cumberland, today openly rebelled against heavy administration pressure for speedy action on Gov. James H. Duff's $440,000,000 tax program.

In a statement explaining his position on the eight-point tax program, Wade vigorously protested the manner in which he said, the tax proposals were "jammed through" the House. Vice-chairman of the Senate Highways committee which now controls the fate of Duff's recommendation for a penny a gallon gasoline tax boost, he singled out the gas tax proposal for particular criticism.

Senate action on the overall tax program, already delayed nearly three weeks, is expected next week. The Highways committee is slated to take up the gas tax proposal at a meeting Monday. The Senate Finance committee is studying the seven other tax recommendations.

QUESTIONED BY POLICE
City police are questioning a young man whom it was alleged carried several boxes of pies and a box of paint brush cleaner. He was seen Friday afternoon by Harry Glitch, employee of a nearby plant, carrying the material from Ramsey's warehouse, the police claim.

He was also to be quizzed concerning the theft of several shirts from the auto of Mrs. Regina Stevenson, East Washington street, obtained when the ventilating window of the car was broken while it was parked in Croton avenue.

Morellas And United AA Battle For Optimist Tourney Title Tonight

United A A Surprises Defending Champions, Morellas Win Easily

Tonight a new Lawrence County Senior Optimist Club Tournament Basketball champion will be crowned—it will either be the United AA or the Morella Dairy Bar five.

Over 300 tourney fans were treated to a surprise last night as the United AA led by the sensational Don Reed and Jimmy Jancone, erased the 1948 defending champions—East Brook Boosters, the city-county league champions, 48 to 35. Reed had 23 points and Jancone 13.

In the other semi-final game the Morella Dairy Bar had a rather easy time downing the Gus Big Five 56 to 41 with Fred Wimer, "Chuck" Tanner and "Jake" McGary in starring roles. Tanner and Wimer each had 17 points.

Awards Trophies

Tonight the tourney ends with a consolation game at 7 o'clock between East Brook and the Gus Big Five with third place at stake.

The main game will start about 8:15 o'clock. Following the final game, the Optimist committee headed by General Chairman Lef Frye, will pass out awards and trophies, to the players and teams.

Despite heroic efforts by the lanky Kenny Cathcart, star center of the Gus Big Five, who had 23 points two short of the 25 total posted by Paul Johnson of Bessemer for individual tourney scoring honors, the Gus' five fell by the wayside to the more experienced and rugged Morella team, that hung up its 13th straight win without a defeat last night.

Only in the first period did the Gus five make a game of it, the score ending 9 to 6 in favor of the Morellas. "Chuck" Tanner former Shenango high star, and a member of the Boston Braves baseball team, played the best game of his long career, being a whirlwind both offensively and defensively. He had 17 points to the Wimer.

United Hopeful

The United AA team with several former New Castle high stars on the roster, are hopeful of upsetting the great Morellas tonight. Coach Paul Morrison and his charges will have their hands full.

The Morellas were pre-tourney favorites owing to their 10 straight wins previous to joining the tourney. Ellwood VFW gave the Morellas a real scare Thursday night. The score 46-41.

Tournament Success

Admission tonight will be the same as for the entire tourney, 50 cents to everybody. It is indicated that a packed gym will greet the finalists tonight. There is considerable interest in the big game and both teams have a large following of fans.

The 1949 Optimist tourney has been a grand success not so much from a financial standpoint, but for sportsmanship and clean play. The games have all been hard fought. Lee Frye and his committee have done a swell job.
